Thank you! I will forward your message on to the Sub. I know that the client was paying her bills with ease prior to her medical leave due to pregnancy complications. She is still trying to play catch up from her time off work. With that said, I agree with your suggestion to look at more affordable transportation for her should she continue to struggle with getting caught up on her bills.

Hi Carrie – The approved form is attached. I noticed this is her fifth car payment that A2A has made, more than $1300 total. If the client continues to be unable to make her car payments, I would encourage her case manager to research more affordable means of transportation for the client or see if there are other forms of assistance we can provide that may free up some of the client's resources to make her car payments.

Emily,

Attached is an RFO for [REDACTED]. I know you're out of the office until January 3rd, this is for your review after your return.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

Carrie
